

Tired? Headaches? Weight gain?

1000s of people are suffering the pain and isolation of an undiagnosed pituitary condition, which can affect their hormones

Did you know your optician can diagnose pituitary tumours? Book a visual field test today!

During a visual field test, if you struggle to see the dots of light at either side, or pressure is detected on the optic nerves, it may indicate a pituitary tumour. You should be referred to a hospital ophthalmologist, and then for an MRI scan and an appointment with an endocrinologist. Undiagnosed patients may have experienced vision problems for weeks, and if left undiagnosed, pituitary tumours may damage a patient's eye sight.
